Only three wins

WYCOMBE Wanderers go into tomorrow's (Saturday) F.A. Cup second qualifying round tie at home to Milton Keynes with 10 goals behind them in the last two outings, including their best performance of the season against Hendon on Tuesday.

That performance must put the Blues in a confident frame of mind for their game against a side that has won only three of their 13 games this season.

However, over-confidence could be Wycombe's biggest danger. They have already struggled against poor sides this season, notably in the last round of the Cup when they only beat Marlow with a late goal by Steve Perrin.

Milton Keynes, who changed their name from Bletchley in the close season, have been struggling in the lower regions of the Southern League, Division One North for much of the season. They have finished on the losing side 10 times already including a 4-0 defeat at the hands of Oxford City — Wycombe's fellow Rothmans Isthmian League club.

THREE WINS

Their three victories came in successive games over Wellingborough (1-0), Wolverton (2-1) and Merthyr Tydfil (4-2). The win over Wolverton was in the first qualifying round of the F.A. Cup.

Ian Reid is one of the few familiar faces in their side. Reid, who won Amateur Cup winners medals with Crook and Enfield, also played for Slough Town against Walton in the 1973 final.

Injuries have played a major role in the club's lack of success this year. Two players, including skipper Pete Harris, have suffered broken legs and recently goalkeeper Terry Pearce left the club to be replaced by Alan Ballard.

Wanderers could have Tony Horseman back in their ranks tomorrow.
